Travel expenses and subsistence allowances (funded participants only)

According to the GIZ travel regulation, funded participants are entitled to receive travel allowances to cover additional expenses when participating at meetings financed by the GIZ. The GIZ regulations are based on the German income tax law. The compliance of GIZ projects to the travel regulation is central part of the annual internal control and external revisions.

The reimbursement of travel expenses covers the reimbursement of the travel expenses directly incurred on a business trip in relation to:

- travel costs;
- additional expenses for meals;
- costs of overnight accommodation;
- ancillary costs.

The meal and accommodation allowances are fixed by the German government each year for every country in the world.

The meal allowance is split in two rates: the full rate for an absence of a full day and a reduced rate for an absence of less than 24 hours from home. The reduced rates apply normally on the day of departure and return.

Meals which are provided to the participant free of charge as usual subsistence on the occasion of or during the meeting, either from GIZ or from a third party at GIZ’s instruction must be stated accordingly in the travel expense account. The full meal allowances shall be reduced based on the statutory provisions of the regulations governing how meal expenses are handled for tax purposes (for breakfast 20%, 40% in each case for lunch or evening meal). This reduction is made regardless of whether meals are actually consumed.

Any meals provided free of charge in an aircraft must always be specified in the travel expense account.

According to the GIZ regulation this means that in case half board is provided at a GIZ meeting, there will be a deduction of 60% from the lump sum which the participant is entitled to receive. In case that full board is provided, there will be a deduction of 100% from the lump sum which the participant is entitled to receive. No additional meals allowances will be paid in this case.

Please note that the deduction is always calculated based on the full day rate.

Deductions for food provided (based on the lump sums for Gabon)

- Breakfast: deduction of 20%, this corresponds to a deduction of 10,40 EUR from the amount to be perceived
- Lunch: deduction of 40%, this corresponds to a deduction of 20,80 EUR from the amount to be perceived
Dinner: deduction of 40%, this corresponds to a deduction of 20,80 EUR from the amount to be perceived

According to GIZ regulations, payment will be made in FCFA as follows:
- Perdiem on meeting days (5, 6, 7 and 8 July): 52 Euros (34.109 XAF)
- Perdiem on travel days: 35 Euros (22.958 XAF)
- Accommodation / overnight package: 92 Euros (60.348 XAF)

All payments will be rounded down to 5 XAF

Payment will be made at the venue of the meeting on
- 7 July from 10am to 6pm
- 8 July from 8am to 6pm

A schedule with the time slots for participants will be displayed at the venue.

Please provide your boarding passes and the original of your mission order to justify the various payments. Please note that any eligible refund according to GIZ procedures (visa fees, transport in the country of origin between your home and the airport, airport taxes or other ...) requires the presentation of an original receipt. Travel by private vehicle between home and the airport and the use of a driver must be authorized in advance by GIZ. If you are not sure if an expense qualifies for a refund, please contact the organizer prior to the event.

Receipts must contain at least the following information in order to be accepted: full contact details including phone number of service provider, date, amount and currency, detailed description of service rendered. The receipt must contain information as well if the service was paid for, otherwise please make sure to have proof of credit card payment or wire transfer with you.

The GIZ reserves the right to refuse receipts if they do not fulfill the required criteria. The Director Administration and Finance of GIZ who is responsible for Gabon will be present. In case of dispute concerning reimbursements, he will take the final non disputable decision.

Participants staying at the Radisson or Park Inn Hotel: Please make sure to pay your extras prior to departure (minibar, restaurant, bar, laundry, phone, etc.). The GIZ will only cover accommodation including breakfast for your entire stay as well as lunch on meeting days.
